DETAILED ACTION

Claim Objections

Claim 114 is objected to because of the following informalities:

It appears that "of claim 26" (line 1) was intended to be --of claim 113--, which change will be assumed for purposes of further consideration of the claims as to the merits, hereinbelow. Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-174 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102 (b) as being anticipated by Pitroda et al. (US 5,590,038).

1. Referring to claim 1, Pitroda discloses a system for managing electronic receipts, comprising:

a portable device (UETC 20: Fig 2) configured to store a plurality of electronic receipts corresponding to a plurality of transactions and allow one or more of the plurality of electronic receipts to be retrieved; and a base device (Main Central Computer 26; Fig 2) configured to store one or more policies relating to generation and management of electronic receipts and generate an electronic receipt for a corresponding transaction using at least one of the one or more policies and forward the generated electronic receipt to the portable device for storage; wherein which one of the one or more policies is used for generating the electronic receipt depends on the corresponding transaction (see, col. 7, lines 50-60).

2. Referring to claim 2, Pitroda discloses a system comprising a user device (PC 24; Fig 2) configured to communicate with the portable device to allow a user to manage the plurality of electronic receipts stored on the portable device.

3. Referring to claim 3, Pitroda discloses a system comprising a management server (Fig 2) configured to communicate with the user device and retrieve information relating to one or more of the plurality of electronic receipts stored on the portable device.

4. Referring to claim 4, Pitroda discloses a system comprising a management server (Fig 2) that interacts with one or more applications and communicates the retrieved information from the portable device to the one or more applications.

5. Referring to claim 5, Pitroda discloses a system comprising an administration system

(Fig 2) configured to provide at least one of the one or more policies; wherein the management server cooperates with the administration system to restore one or more of the plurality of electronic receipts.

6. Referring to claim 6, Pitroda discloses a system (CIU and PC: Fig 2) wherein the user device and the portable device cooperate with each other in an off-line manner to allow the user to manage the plurality of electronic receipts.

7. Referring to claim 7, Pitroda discloses a system (see, col. 7, lines 35-45) wherein information relating to one or more of the plurality of electronic receipts is stored in the user device; and wherein the information relating to one or more of the plurality of electronic receipts is exported to one or more applications residing either within or without the user device.

8. Referring to claim 8, Pitroda discloses an administration system (see, col. 2, lines 60-65) configured to communicate with the base device and provide at least one of the one or more policies to the base device to allow the base device to generate electronic receipts accordingly.

9. Referring to claim 9, Pitroda discloses an administration system (see, col. 2, lines 60-

65) periodically updates at least one of the one or more policies and forwards one or more updated policies to the base device.

10. Referring to claim 10, Pitroda discloses a system (29: Fig 2) wherein the base device is further configured to store a copy of the electronic receipt generated by the base device in a local receipt storage.

11. Referring to claim 11, Pitroda discloses a system (see, col. 5, lines 25-40) wherein contents of the local receipt storage are periodically uploaded to the administration system.

12. Referring to claim 12, Pitroda discloses a system wherein the user is able to use the base device to restore an electronic receipt on the portable device by using contents of the local receipt storage.

The user can access the main central computer from UETC or PC using main central computer (25) at any time (Fig 2).

13. Referring to claim 13, Pitroda discloses a system (see, col. 5, lines 25-40) wherein contents of the local receipt storage are exported to one or more applications residing either within or without the base device.

14. Referring to claim 14, Pitroda discloses a system (29: Fig 2) wherein the base device is further configured to store historical activity information relating to the electronic receipt generated by the base device in a local receipt activity log.

15. Referring to claim 15, Pitroda discloses a system (Fig 2) wherein contents of the local receipt activity log are periodically uploaded to the administration system.

16. Referring to claim 16, Pitroda discloses a system (Fig 2) wherein the administration system is further configured to collect information from the base device.

17. Referring to claim 17, Pitroda discloses a system (29: Fig 2) wherein the information collected from the base device by the administration system is used for reporting purposes.

18. Referring to claim 18, Pitroda discloses a system (see, col. 2, lines 30-35) wherein the information collected from the base device by the administration system is used for fraud control.

19. Referring to claim 19, Pitroda discloses a system (29: Fig 2) wherein the information collected from the base device by the administration system is used for base device management.

20. Referring to claim 20, Pitroda discloses a system (see, col. 6, lines 45-50) wherein the administration system is further configured to generate and manage keys and security attributes to allow the base device to generate a secure electronic receipt.

21. Referring to claim 21, Pitroda discloses a system (see, col. 2, lines 45-50) wherein the portable device includes user information relating to the user of the portable device; and wherein when the user wishes to conduct a transaction, the user information is forwarded by the portable device to the base device and used by the base device to generate a corresponding electronic receipt for the transaction.

22. Referring to claim 22, Pitroda discloses a system (see, abstract) wherein the portable device includes at least one of a smart card, a personal digital assistant, a cellular phone, a pager, a memory stick, a secure digital card, a dongle and a payment card.

Abstract says "UET card includes information storage elements, an input interface, a processor, a display and a communication interface".

23. Referring to claim 23, Pitroda discloses a system (see, abstract) wherein one or more of the plurality of electronic receipts stored on the portable device are protected from unauthorized access.

24. Referring to claim 24, Pitroda discloses a system (see, col. 6, lines 15-40) wherein one or more of the plurality of electronic receipts stored on the portable device each has one or more associated access conditions.

25. Referring to claim 25, Pitroda discloses a system (27: Fig 2) wherein the one or more policies correspond to one or more service providers.

26. Referring to claim 26, Pitroda discloses a system (see, col. 6, lines 15-25) wherein the base device is assigned a unique identifier.

27. Referring to claim 27, Pitroda discloses a system (see, col. 6, lines 15-40) wherein information relating to the unique identifier is incorporated into the electronic receipt generated by the base device.

28. Referring to claim 28, Pitroda A discloses a system (see, col. 6, lines 15-40) wherein the base device uses information from the portable device and a service provider environment to generate the electronic receipt.

29. Referring to claim 29, Pitroda discloses a system (23: Fig 2) wherein the service provider environment includes one or more peripheral devices including an electronic cash register.

30. Referring to claim 30, Pitroda discloses a system (26, 27, 29: Fig 2) wherein the base device is further configured to delete an electronic receipt from the portable device if the electronic receipt has become invalid or has been confirmed for deletion.

31. Referring to claim 31, Pitroda discloses a system (26, 27, 29: Fig 2) wherein the base device includes at least one of a point of sales device, an ATM, a kiosk, a personal computer and a telephone including a cellular phone.

32. Referring to claim 32, Pitroda discloses a system (24: Fig 2) wherein the user device is further configured to allow the user to display one or more of the plurality of electronic receipts stored on the portable device.

33. Referring to claim 33, Pitroda discloses a system (Fig 2) wherein the user device communicates with the management server via an open network.

34. Referring to claim 34, Pitroda discloses a system (Fig 2) wherein the user is able to exchange information between the user device and the portable device.

35. Referring to claim 35, Pitroda discloses a system (24: Fig 2, also see, col. 6, lines 65-68) wherein the user is able to delete one or more of the plurality of electronic receipts stored on the portable device using the user device. Deleting a document is a generic feature of any computer device.

36. Referring to claim 36, Pitroda discloses a system (see, col. 6, lines 65-68) wherein the user is able to transfer one or more of the plurality of electronic receipts stored on the portable device onto the user device.

37. Referring to claim 37, Pitroda discloses a system (see, col. 6, lines 65-68) wherein the user is further able to delete the one or more transferred electronic receipts from the user device which is a generic feature of any PC.

38. Referring to claim 38, Pitroda discloses a system (see, col. 6, lines 65-68) wherein the user is further able to download the previously transferred one or more electronic receipts from the user device to the portable device.

39. Referring to claim 39, Pitroda discloses a system (see, col. 6, lines 65-68) wherein the user is able to store a duplicate copy of one or more of the plurality of electronic receipts stored on the portable device onto the user device.

40. Referring to claim 40, Pitroda discloses a system (see, col. 6, lines 15-40) wherein the electronic receipt stored on the portable device allows a user to redeem a service or merchandise; and wherein upon the user requesting redemption of the service or merchandise, the base device retrieves the electronic receipt from the portable device and directs the electronic receipt to be deleted from the portable device.

Redeem service is same as purchasing the service or merchandise at the point of sale.

41. Referring to claim 41, Pitroda discloses a system (see, col. 6, lines 15-40) wherein at least one of the plurality of electronic receipts is tamper-proof.

42. Referring to claim 42, Pitroda discloses a system (Timer and Memory Management: Fig 7) wherein at least one of the plurality of electronic receipts includes a validity period.

43. Referring to claim 43, Pitroda discloses a system (see, col. 6, lines 15-40) wherein at least one of the plurality of electronic receipts includes receipt status information.

44. Referring to claim 44, Pitroda discloses a system (see, col. 6, lines 15-40) wherein at least one of the plurality of electronic receipts includes transaction identifying information.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.

- US Patent 5,590,038 to Satyan G. Pitroda discloses the Universal Electronic Transaction card including receipt generation, storage, and retrieval. It discusses a system to conduct electronic transactions.
- US Patent 6,327,576 to Nobuo Ogatawara discloses a scheme for electronic receipts including shelf life limitations.
- US Patent 5,739,512 to Bruce Tognazzini discloses Digital delivery of receipts.
